Active Communities Winter Challenge

Physical activity is one of the best things you can do for your physical and mental health, but you don't have to run a marathon to benefit from being active!

To achieve health benefits, adults should get 150 minutes of moderate-to vigorous-intensity physical activity per week. Children and youth should get at least 60 minutes per day.

Moderate-intensity physical activities should make you sweat a bit and breathe harder, such as brisk walking and bike riding.

Vigorous-intensity physical activities should make you sweat and be 'out of breath', such as jogging, basketball and cross country skiing.

Small increases in physical activity can make a big difference. Make being active part of your routine today!

Physical Activity Bingo Contest Rules

Send in your completed bingo card for a chance to win!
For every line completed you'll receive one entry into a draw for:

- A pair of brand new snowshoes
- Gift cards for purchasing clothing or equipment for your active lifestyle

Each time you complete an activity for 15 minutes or more, record the number of minutes and mark off the square.

Send in a picture of your completed bingo card on or before Monday March 27th, 2017 for your chance to win!
